

Make Do and Mend Service from Designer Alterations

Are you just returning to work after having a baby and nothing fits? Is your wardrobe full of pieces that are no longer on trend?

The majority of women have clothes in their wardrobes that don't fit anymore, are forgotten about, some never worn, are old fashioned or are badly damaged.

Designer Alterations is launching a new Make Do and Mend Service, which will revamp your existing wardrobe and offer solutions on ways to update, remodel and transform tired and illfitting clothes into the latest looks.

Not only does this save money on expensive clothes but is better for the environment and is a more ethical approach to consumer behaviour. According to Triad UK women buy 2.15 million tonnes of clothes and shoes every year and will throw out over 900,000 tonnes of clothing each year in the UK alone.

Designer Alterations specialise in transforming unwanted garments into better than new pieces, with personalised fits and detailing. Customers can either visit the head office in London's Battersea, or book one of their experts to come and do a home visit. Very handy service for a busy woman!

With a team of experienced seamstresses, designers and invisible menders, Designer Alterations can offer an extensive range of solutions. Initially they will edit the clothes and help advice on which pieces can be altered, mended and brought back to life. Refitting, restyling and remodelling will be done and the pieces will then be whisked away to head office for alterations.

For more information, visit: <http://www.designeralterations.com>

Should you have any further questions please click here to email us.

© Busy Woman 2006

< Back

Email a Friend

View Printable Version

Bookmark

Privacy Policy & Disclaimer